

PRESCOTT PEOPLE VISIT AT CASTLE HOT SPRINGS

MANY STOP OVER AT THE RESORT ON THEIR WAY HOME FROM THE STATE FAIR

CASTLE HOT SPRINGS, Nov. 22.—Castle Hot Springs hotel has enjoyed an unusually large patronage since the first of November. Several parties from the northern part of Arizona, who visited the great State fair in Phoenix week before last, motored over to the springs on their way home, among them being Mrs. and Miss Fredericks of Prescott, Judge and Mrs. Rutherford of Jerome, Richard Lamson of Prescott, W. C. Miller, T. C. Roberts and Dr. M. W. Roberts of Jerome, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. T. Joslin, George W. Joslin and George G. A. Bray, Gordon Clark and Neal C. Clark of Prescott, C. P. Ford of Prescott, Mrs. Dermott, Miss Stark Lester Ivan of Williams, Miss Sutherland of Phoenix and J. M. Elder of Prescott, George W. Miller of Prescott and Miss Annie Campbell Jones of Prescott.

Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Stuart of Pasadena, Cal., came in on October 26th and were so charmed with their first visit to the springs that they prolonged their stay until today. Mr. Stuart, who is president of the Union Trust and Savings Bank of Pasadena, attended the bankers' convention held in Phoenix the first of the month and was the guest of Mr. M. C. McDougall, vice president of the Phoenix National bank, whose courtesy and untiring attention so charmed both Mr. and Mrs. Stuart that they are delighted with the attractions of Phoenix and surroundings. Particularly was Mr. Stuart impressed with the marvels of the Roosevelt dam and the trip there and back to Phoenix.

William H. Kiefer of Norwalk, Ohio, has been a guest at the springs for two weeks and will remain for an extended visit to recuperate after his arduous duties as manager of the campaign for governor of Ohio.

J. A. Sears, the general manager of the Kenilworth Improvement Company, handling real estate in Kenilworth, a beautiful suburb of Chicago, is here and intends remaining several weeks to enjoy golf, shooting and the matchless hot water baths.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Findeisen of Chicago have been touring through Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona and are here for the first time. They are wonderfully impressed with the attractions of our country and the springs.

Mrs. R. A. MacDonald and little Betty and Mrs. J. P. Reed, Mrs. MacDonald's mother, of Pittsburgh, Pa., arrived here to remain during the entire season.

PRETTY ROMANCE IS BROUGHT TO LIGHT

(From Sunday's Daily.)

With the return of pretty sixteen-year-old Anne Chiantaretti to the home of her parents and the satisfactory adjustment of the little adventure, was yesterday brought to light a decidedly pretty romance.

Featured by a heartburning tale of youthful love, parental objection and an elopement, the romance may eventually culminate fittingly. But for the time being parental objection triumphs.

Last Thursday morning the sheriff's office was notified of the elopement of Miss Chiantaretti and her lover, Anton Gironomi, twenty-one years old. Simultaneously with the notification came a brief history of the events leading up to the elopement.

Gironomi, who is a decidedly handsome young chap, has courted Anne for some time past. Last week the latter's parents objected to the attentions he was bestowing upon their child, whom they considered too young to contemplate matrimony. Gironomi received this attitude with no attempt toward concealing his feelings. Crying like a child he seated himself at a point where Anne saw him a few minutes later.

"Why are you crying, Anton?" she asked.

"Why do you ask? You know," he replied.

Relatives of the girl reside at Humboldt and the parents took it for granted that they were heading in that direction. Possibly because they had no funds or in an effort to discourage pursuit, the two decided to walk the twenty mile distance instead of taking the train.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Young, who was dispatched upon official business to Humboldt for Thursday night, decided to make the journey via rig, believing that he would pick up the elopers en route. His deductions were correct for within five miles of Humboldt he sighted the couple, tired but happy, trudging along to finish their pilgrimage of love.

The two were taken to Humboldt where the girl was placed in the care of friends. The father said that he did not look with disfavor upon his daughter's marriage to Gironomi, but that he wanted them to wait a year or two. Gironomi has entered a pact whereby he is to go to work away from this city for the next year and a half and then come back to claim his bride.

SCHOOL LAND IS CLASSIFIED BY ASSESSORS

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Deputy Assessors C. E. Gentry and E. W. Stephens yesterday concluded the classifying of approximately 150,000 acres of school lands of this county. With this duty they were authorized to appraise the valuations of the large acreage covered, which reaches to the sum of nearly half a million of dollars.

This official duty was requested by the State land commission at Phoenix, and is considered as one of the most exacting as well as delicate official duties this office has ever had to face, it being incumbent on the officials to possess an absolute knowledge of the possibilities of the large domain affected, which is scattered from one end to the other of the county.

The purpose of the State board is to obtain accurate knowledge of the value of the lands on which to base future proposals to be made for leasing or any purpose whatever, and possibly in the event of a sale being made, a price is to be placed on the lands designated. Every township off of the national reserve was carefully considered by the local officials, which included sections 2, 16, 32 and 36, in each. A familiarity was necessary with the above lands, on which to place the appraisal made, some of which are very valuable owing to the cultivation in evidence, some are desirable for grazing purpose, while others are of but nominal value. The funds received from the leasing of this immense acreage are to be applied to the public school system of the county.

ROCKY ROAD IS AHEAD OF JOE DILLON.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

PHOENIX, Nov. 21.—It will be a long time before J. P. Dillon, clerk of the supreme court, and friend of Senator Henry F. Ashurst, takes the oath as United States marshal if Maricopa county Democrats have their way. The Maricopa county organization wants to land the marshalship for some faithful Democrat in the Salt River valley. This section of the State has received no recognition from the hands of the Wilson administration. The Federal judge and clerk came from Pima county. The register of the land office was chosen from Pinal, the receiver from Graham, and Pima landed the collector of customs. The United States attorney is to be chosen from Coconino and now it is proposed to pick a marshal from Yavapai county. Where does Maricopa county, the largest in population and Democratic strength, come in? is a question being asked each other by Democrats in this neck of the woods.

It is generally understood here that when Mark Smith was given the selection of a judge, naming W. H. Sawtelle, Ashurst took the marshalship and United States attorney, picking Joe Dillon for the former and Thomas A. Flynn for the latter. Flynn's nomination will go to the Senate in a few days. He and his assistant, Wiley Jones, have been here for some time watching the United States court at work and getting experience.

If Dillon's name should be sent to the Senate, the Maricopa county Democrats have charges already to file and a hot fight will be waged against his confirmation. He already holds a good office in the gift of the people and the Salt River valley Democrats think that he should be satisfied and let some other faithful party worker have a chance.

In picking Wiley Jones of Florence for his assistant, Thomas A. Flynn chose one of his fifteen rivals for the appointment. Jones is an old Graham county Democratic warhorse. He has tried for many years to get public office.

REAL WORK TO BEGIN IN JANUARY

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Arrivals yesterday from Chaparral stated that the rehabilitating of the famous old Jessie mining camp was being accomplished in a business-like manner in which a large line of surface improvements indicated that when active mine work was resumed, practical consideration and substantial conditions had been accomplished.

A large amount of work has been performed by General Manager C. H. Blacker, of the Chaparral Mining Company, a new syndicate incorporated recently, to operate this group and the expeditious business-like manner in which a large line of miscellaneous improvements had been made, reflected a capability that was indorsed and commented upon by old-time mining men.

Among the noteworthy changes in evidence at the old gold camp is a new reservoir with a capacity for storing at least 300,000 gallons of water, the laying of a long pipe line from the Jessie workings to that point; another water service to reach to the boarding house, the repairing of a group of five old buildings, the laying of tracks, building new wagon roads, and other needed work to facilitate future handling of the output on an economical basis. Incidental to this property being at a standstill for many years, a decayed condition resulted, but with the touch of the spirit of the day the old camp gives way to a scene that augurs a careful and systematic manner in which to prosecute future work. In a short time this preliminary effort will be completed, and early in January, it is state, active mining is to begin. The reviving of the Jessie is attended with very much interest, the miner generally admitting that it holds the key to the mineral treasures of that field.

TWO CAPTURED IN A RAID AT HUMBOLDT

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Two inmates of the Humboldt redlight district were arrested Thursday night following a raid by Deputy Sheriff Joe Young. The prisoners when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ben Mowday in Humboldt yesterday were fined $60 each. Unable to pay their fines, sentence was suspended with the provision that both leave Humboldt by tonight.

The raid was prompted by complaints made by several Humboldt residents owing to the existence of the district. Following the complaint to the sheriff and county attorney the raid was planned.

Apparently a tip had gone straight to the headquarters of the district from some unknown source. At any rate, the number of arrests made was somewhat less than anticipated.

POOR WILL BE REMEMBERED

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Announcement is made from the headquarters of the Associated Charities that the usual distribution of Thanksgiving boxes for the poor will be made by the Associated Charities on Wednesday morning, Miss E. R. Shannon, superintendent, urgently requests that all donations of groceries, cooked foods or money by the many charitable persons who make a practice of observing the holiday in this samaritan fashion, deliver same at headquarters during Monday and Tuesday.

The Red Cross and Christmas seals have been placed on sale at all the stores in the city and may be procured there in the future.

UNION AND HOTEL MAN ENGAGE IN WAR

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Members of local No. 630, International Bartenders' League of America, have declared war on Fred Ullman, proprietor of the Prescott hotel. The first skirmish occurred yesterday in front of the hostelry when three members of the local, comprising a committee, were unceremoniously ushered out of the place by the enraged proprietor.

Before nightfall the legal offices of the county had been brought into the fray and from all indications there will be more doings within the next several days.

Ullman, according to the claims of the Bartenders' union, refused upon demand to surrender his "union bar" label. According to the contract signed, this label must be surrendered upon demand. The union was anxious to secure it because of the contention that Ullman was no longer securing union help.

Several weeks ago the bartenders called upon Ullman and requested that he fill the position with a union man. Ullman hired a negro bartender and non-member. Then the union demanded the return of its label. Ullman curtly refused.

A committee of three members called yesterday afternoon for a personal discussion of the matter. Their fate has already been recorded. This committee then proceeded to the office of Attorney P. W. O'Sullivan, secured him as their counsel, and appeared before Justice of the Peace Charles H. McLane. A writ of replevin was sworn out and Under Sheriff Raible went to serve it. Mr. Ullman further declined to surrender the label, but he gave a cash bond to insure his appearance in the justice's court within the next five days.

In the meanwhile some interesting developments are anticipated. The bartenders are clearly annoyed by the proprietor's stand and declare that they will take the fight to him before long.

MORE UNITS TO BE ADDED TO CLIMAX MILL

(From Sunday's Daily.)

During the present trip of R. M. Martin, president of the Climax Mining Company it is his intention to make arrangements for the immediate hauling of the old Hidden Treasure ten-stamp mill and its erection on the Hassayampa, as an additional unit for the mill on the ground.

This mill was purchased several months ago and is now dismantled. It is located about four miles from Turkey station on the Bradshaw Mountain railway and will be loaded on cars at that point. From this city it will again be taken by freight teams over wagon roads and the intention is to get it running as soon as possible, in view of the early coming winter storms, which insure a steady supply of water for months to come.

With the added unit the Climax will have twenty stamps dropping and from recent development, the tonnage on the dump and blocked out is capable of keeping eighty stamps active for months to come.

Mr. Martin also is operating the Board Creek copper mines, recently purchased, and is quite optimistic over determinations made in the past three months. He is now at the Climax camp and is to remain in the field for several days before returning to Los Angeles.

MINING BOOSTERS FURTHER THEIR FINE WORK

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Another busy session of the new Chamber of Commerce mining committee held yesterday was productive of the advertisement inserted in this morning's issue of the Journal-Miner and which solicits the co-operation of every mining man and prospector in the county, to boost the Yavapai mining industry.

The advertisement which is clear and to the point, briefly tells the purpose of the committee's work and solicits a description of every mining property upon the market. The description must include the name of the property, mining district, number of claims, whether patented or unpatented, gold, silver, copper or other valuable metals, distance from railroad, condition of wagon road, supply of water, supply of timber, amount of work done, improvements and all other points the prospective seller may care to advance.

This committee will in turn print these properties in booklet form, advertise in eastern papers, forward the booklets upon request and eventually organize a systematic campaign for conducting this line of work in the future. No commission is expected and none will be accepted. The mining committee's work is prompted simply by a desire to promote Yavapai county in a legitimate, enthusiastic and up-to-date manner.

MAKES A DEADLY ASSAULT WITH BEER MUG

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Charged with assault and battery, Dan McCarthy, a mining man at present residing in this city, was yesterday arrested and released under $100 bail to await a hearing before Justice of the Peace Charles H. McLane. W. M. Linden, a music professor and leader of the Prescott band, is the victim of the alleged attack and the complaining witness.

According to the story of the conflict told at the Ranier bar where it occurred, the two men had spent the major portion of the afternoon quietly chatting in a booth, occasionally off-setting the monotony by ordering a drink. Suddenly, without warning, McCarthy was seen to jump to his feet, grab a beer mug, bring it down over Linden's right eye, back up and again bring it down, this time upon the skull.

Linden was stunned and could offer no resistance. Were it not for interference by by-standers there is no telling what the conclusion of the episode would have been. The two were separated and Under Sheriff Charles Raible summoned.

COCHISE SEEKS SCALP OF U. S. SENATOR.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

BISBEE, Ariz., Nov. 21.—The selection of a Tucson man as collector of customs for the district of Arizona is Senator Marcus A. Smith's political death knell in "Dear Old Cochise." This county presented two candidates for the place—W. H. Fitzherbert of Douglas, and Owen Murphy, county recorder of Tombstone, both faithful Democratic workers and supporters of Mark Smith. When the Tucson senator picked a man from his home town for Federal judge, and then a Tucson man was named clerk of the court, the Cochise followers of Smith thought that the Pima county statesmen had received more than their share of the spoils and that the lightning would certainly strike Fitzherbert or Murphy when a customs collector was named.

The Democrats of Cochise did not think that Charles E. Hardy had a chance for the place. Some feared that it might go to Amos O'Keefe, for years the leader of Pima county Democrats, but Hardy was not considered in the running. As it is, Cochise county, Mark Smith's stronghold, has not received a single Federal appointment, while Pima county, the banner Republican county of the State, is getting all of the plums.

COMPLIMENT WITH HARD BACK KICK.

There are men now being considered for high Federal positions in Arizona that are unfit for any public position. If some of them are appointed the thin glass will rattle around some of our candidates at the next election.

Sensors Smith and Ashurst should understand that the men who have been fighting democracy's battles in Arizona for many years should be given consideration in the distribution of patronage. The appointment of Weedon and Birdno was a proper recognition of this spirit, as was also that of Captain Hardy of Tucson, but it does seem as though men are very forgetful of long standing obligations after they have received their election certificates.—Phoenix Democrat.

ONCE WORKED AT OLD CASH MINE NEAR HERE

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Death Valley Scotty, of whose spectacular career so much has been heard, was met by several residents of Prescott while in Phoenix recently, who recall his familiar features with his grotesque garb, as once a resident of this city.

Scotty, in short, was a hard working miner and was employed at the old Cash mine, near Maxton, for sometime, while H. P. Bardshar was the superintendent, less than ten years ago. Mr. Bardshar while attending the State fair, mingled with the miner of other days and memories of the past were pleasantly recalled.

George Hudson was another Prescottite who worked with Scotty in the mines of Mohave county and gives quite an interesting account of the temperament of the wizard of the desert. After leaving this field, about 1905, Scotty located in the Panamint range of mountains, bordering on Death Valley, and for three years his identity was hidden until he made the "flash in the pan" entry into Los Angeles with gold galore to throw at the birds.

According to Phoenix papers Scotty is to leave for New Orleans today to float a bonanza that is somewhere in Death Valley, with "millions in it."

BARDSHAR NOW THE PLAINTIFF

(From Saturday's Daily.)

An interesting sequel to the domestic troubles of the Bardshars was recorded yesterday when Henry P. Bardshar filed a suit for divorce from his wife, Sylvia F. Bardshar. Desertion is alleged.

Society circles in far-off Washington, D. C., and throughout the State were startled sometime ago when Mrs. Bardshar filed a suit for divorce, alleging desertion.

Bardshar, who resides at Cherry Creek, was at one time Colonel Theodore Roosevelt's right hand man during the Spanish war. Later Bardshar was appointed to an official position at Washington and then was given the berth of collector of customs for New Mexico and Arizona.

Recently the domestic disruptions first became public and Mrs. Bardshar's suit brought the rumors to a head about a month ago.

But a neat surprise was sprung when Mr. Bardshar appearing upon the stand claimed that he had not deserted his wife. The case was immediately dismissed, and is followed by the suit in which the positions of the parties are reversed.

WAS GOOD STUFF WHILE IT LASTED

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Following a hearing in Justice of the Peace Charles H. McLane's court yesterday, Ed Wallace, colored, was found guilty of being drunk and disorderly. Sentence will be pronounced Monday.

An interesting tale of how the colored section of the city was thrown into a spasm of excitement some time ago was unfurled at the arraignment. Wallace, imbibing a little too freely, managed to locate a six-shooter. Armed with the weapon he appeared in front of the door of "Mammy" Glenn Marshall. Feeling in the best of spirits, Wallace ordered "Mammy" to do a little dance, backing his demands with a couple of shots close to the toes of the prospective actress. "Mammy" did the best she could and then rebelled.

Just then Deputy Sheriff Blake Baker hove in sight. Wallace started simultaneously with the officer. Discarding the gun by the wayside, Wallace managed en route to procure a knife which looked to be anywhere from three feet to as many yards.

Jumping and scaling fences, Wallace managed finally to reach the rear yard of the Scopel hotel. There he was found in the manger of the barn shortly afterward by the officer.

GENERAL HARRIS TO INSPECT POST

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Coming expressly for the purpose of inspecting Fort Whipple in connection with the proposed mobilization of troops at this post shortly, Major General Harris, chief of staff to Governor Hunt, on Friday, accompanied by Dr. C. T. Yount, a surgeon of the United States army, performed this duty.

General Harris arrived from Phoenix on the 1:30 o'clock train and left on the return trip three hours later. His stay here was spent almost entirely at the post.

SAYS NO NEGRO BARTENDER IS EMPLOYED

(From Sunday's Daily.)

"No negro bartender was ever employed at my bar and none will be," was the statement made yesterday by Fred Ullman, the proprietor of the Prescott hotel bar, who is at present having a controversy with the local bartenders' union over a "union bar" card.

"The trouble has arisen over the fact that I decided to do my own work in my place, something which every man should have the right to do without dictation or molestation. I certainly ought to know whether or not I can afford to hire a bartender, knowing my business better than any one else possibly can. The Journal-Miner did me an injustice in stating that I had employed a non-union negro bartender for neither have I done any such thing nor do I intend taking such action."

TESTIMONY IS SOME INTEREST

(From Sunday's Daily.)

An interesting indication of what is to follow when the divorce suit of Elsie G. Darlington vs. D. J. Darlington is heard in court shortly was available yesterday when testimony in behalf of the defendant was taken before Judge Frank O. Smith in the superior court.

Lancey and Ruth Lipp, proprietors of the Colorado restaurant, submitted their testimony yesterday because they could not arrange matters to appear at the trial. Both alleged that the plaintiff without escort had chatted and sat with several militiamen of the Arizona regiment which was in encampment at Fort Whipple barracks in July. The restaurant was the scene of this incident. The case is to be heard shortly.

LEAVE THE CITY.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Another change has taken place in the official ranks of the S. F. P. & P., in this city, by the departure yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Davies for San Bernardino their future home. Mr. Davies has been promoted as an accountant of the local offices to that of traveling auditor of the A. T. & S. F. system, which covers all roads in this State and California. They had been residents of Prescott for over six years, and a testimonial to their popularity was the large number of friends present at the depot to bid them farewell.

VISITING RANGEMEN.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

J. N. Hays, president of the Hays' Cattle Company, and R. W. Forbes, a stockholder, are in the city from Peoples' valley on business for a few days. They were joined here yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Esery, of Hanford, Cal., who are to be their guests for several days.

CITY RANCH NOW LEASED

INTERESTING NEGOTIATIONS FINALLY MATERIALIZE IRRIGATION CO. LEASEE

All necessary papers have been signed and today the city ranch stands formally leased to the Arizona Land and Irrigation Company for a term of ninety-nine years. Signed by the officials of both the company and the city, a copy of the lease is now in the hands of City Clerk John H. Robinson and another in the offices of the company at Indianapolis. The document will be recorded within a day or two.

An interesting string of incidents is recalled by the final disposition of the matter. Two months ago the city was thoroughly stirred by former Senator Burton, who practically desired a presentation of the ranch to the company. By a vote of 3 to 2, the council acceded to his demands.

Mayor Timmerhoff vetoed the ordinance when it came to him for signature and his act created another stir. A final compromise was reached when officials of the company finally acceded to the minority vote represented by Mayor Timmerhoff and Councilman Harry Heap, and accepted under lease only that section which will be flooded by the reservoir and a 50-foot strip around this boundary.
